

EXIT burnout

Wellbeing Training Program

Activities for prevention and decreasing youth workers burnout.
Inspired by adventure therapy,
coaching and gamification methods.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

This WELLBEING TRAINING PROGRAM is created in Erasmus+ project "EXIT BURNOUT" that is implemented by 4 partners from 4 countries -

- Association of Educational Games and Methods, Latvia (www.metozuasociacija.lv)
- Asociación Experientia, Spain (www.asociacionexperientia.org)
- ASD APS Kamaleonte, Italy (www.kamaleonte.org)
- Arbeitskreis Noah. Verein für Sozialpädagogik und Jugendtherapie, Austria (<https://noah.at/>).

Project "EXIT BURNOUT" general objectives:

To develop innovative solutions, using gamification, coaching and adventure therapy methods in order to prevent and decrease youth workers burnout, employee turnover in youth work and increase their wellbeing.

To improve the quality of youth work in general by promoting youth workers wellbeing, work and life satisfaction, and more active involvement and participation of young people in organization.

Project "EXIT BURNOUT" results:

MAPPING REPORT - information about youth workers' wellbeing, the burnout reasons and needs.

WELLBEING TRAINING PROGRAM, using gamification, coaching and adventure therapy methods, offering solution for burnout prevention.

PROGRAM'S IMPLEMENTATION GUIDELINES on how to adapt materials, create customized wellbeing training program for specific organization's needs.

The project's main target group is youth workers and organizations in which youth workers are employed.

INTRODUCTION

Burnout can have significant negative consequences for an individual's mental health. It is often accompanied by emotional exhaustion, cynicism, and a decreased sense of personal accomplishment, which can lead to negative emotions such as anger, frustration, and hopelessness. These negative emotions can, in turn, lead to mental health problems such as depression, anxiety, and other mood disorders. For more information read Mapping report.

Mapping report is available in English, Latvian, German, Spanish and Italian languages and can be found here:

www.metozasociacija.lv/en-exit-burnout

Erasmus+ project "EXIT BURNOUT" Wellbeing Program consists of Toolkit, Wellbeing Program and Handbook.

Toolkit - a practical resource that offers information about available methods, inspired by coaching, adventure therapy and gamification approach. The composition of the activities is based on the results of the mapping report.

Participants Handbook - a practical workbook for supporting participants that participate in Wellbeing program.

If you want to work within the whole Wellbeing program, we invite you to look for the implementation guidelines.

All the materials can be found here:

ABOUT THE WELLBEING TRAINING PROGRAM

The Wellbeing Training Program is linked with specific reasons for youth workers' stress and burnout which was identified in the conducted research. Offered activities are inspired by adventure therapy, coaching and gamification methods for prevention and decreasing youth workers burnout. The Wellbeing program consists of the several parts:

Wellbeing Program

For Facilitators

Ready-made 12 weeks program that consists of most suitable methods for main common burnout reasons.

Handbook

For Participants

A practical workbook for supporting participants that participates in Wellbeing program.

Toolkit

For Facilitators

A practical resource that offers information about available methods.

Implementation guidelines

Supporting material for facilitators and any youth work organization on how to adapt the wellbeing program for their specific needs, available time and other resources.

HOW TO USE THE WELLBEING TRAINING PROGRAM

The implementation of the Wellbeing Training Program is planned as a structured and facilitated process with separate support materials for facilitator and participants. Facilitation of the training program is very important aspect and some of the key factors for successful sessions are everyone's involvement, a safe environment, supporting individuals and group learning needs.

The training program provides a session plan with methods that we recommend implementing in a certain sequence, but, of course, we do not want to limit you only to methods included in the program; should you have other methods that could help achieve the same aim, you are welcome to use them.

In order to implement and successfully run developed training program smoothly, some preparation work is needed. Before starting to implement program, please carefully check supporting material for facilitators as it includes some important aspects that will help you to prepare for activities.

● Energizers

Some sessions you can find your own energizer and other sessions we suggest some energizers that might be related to the content of the session. Hundreds of ideas for energizers you can find there:
<https://www.salto-youth.net/tools/toolbox/>

● TRIOs

In order for the participants to support each other in the learning process, the program includes the creation of small support groups - TRIOs. They are created at the beginning of the program and remain constant throughout the program. Every week, the TRIOs also receive some extra exercises.

GAMIFICATION ELEMENTS

EXIT burnout

As we already know, gamification means adding game elements to a non-game situation. Gamification in learning is a technique which helps to motivate learners and obtain better results when it comes to achieving the established objectives. In the implementation of the Wellbeing training program in order to motivate and engage participants gamification elements are added in the following way:

● Points for THEMSELVES

As points, each participant receives 46 drops of water, which they must give to themselves:

- 1 for each home work they have done, online meeting and meeting in TRIOs participation;
- 2 for each meeting in person they have participated;
- 7 more drops to give themselves in some special occasions - when they did something special, achieved great result etc.

Each time they get a drop, they have to color it in the Handbook (page #3). At the end, the participants will have filled their glass with drops of water and, as is known, water maintains balance in the body and gives inner strength to extinguish the fire.

● Badges for OTHERS

Each participant gets 10 virtual badges they can give to someone else during program implementation:

- Thanks for your support!
- You really surprised me!
- Thanks for your positiveness!
- You are a master of listening!
- Thanks for sharing great idea/ tool!
- Great job, congratulations!
- I am sharing smile with you!
- Thanks for motivation!
- Keep going!
- You have deserved award!

Recommendation for the facilitator of the training - regularly remind to participants about filling the water glass and the opportunity to give a badge to another participant.

SESSION STRUCTURE

We suggest that each session maintains the same structure. The following elements will be part of every session. Times should be adapted to the needs of the group and the facilitator's assessment.

1 Introduction & check in Introducing the content and goals for the week.

Check in with participants to learn how are they feeling here & now.

2 Recap from previous week

Space for participants to share their progress and promote accountability in their commitment of the process.

3 Activity

Activities will be found in the toolkit and some have extra resources for participants in the handbook.

4 Break

Make sure you make a break in the session to allow participants to rest and offer informal connection time.

5 Sharing time

Each activity includes reflection time. For longer sessions specific Sharing time will allow participants to share insights, comments, questions, etc.

6 Homework and trios

In the Handbook you will find that each week has individual tasks and tasks for the meeting trios time.

7 Check out

Participants share their main takeaways and insights from the session, as well as their commitments for the week.

8 Closing

In the first week group decides on a specific ritual, how to wrap the day, and repeat it every week.
